Thank you for purchasing a Lucky Duck™ Premium Decoy.

Your package will include the following items:

- 1) (1) Coyote Body
- 2) (1) Tail
- 3) (1) Poly bag with Cap screw & 2 nuts for tail
- 4) (1) Top Stake Section & (1) Bottom Stake Section

To assemble your decoy for field use:

- 1) Take the decoy out of the box and remove the decoy from the plastic bag.

TIP: You are going to want to let it sit outside for a day or so to air out. It will have a paint smell when first opened, but this will disappear quickly once left out. If you are concerned, you may consider washing it in a scent free soap bath to speed up the airing out process.*

- 2) Unroll the decoy.

TIP: You may want to let the decoy sit out in the warm sun, or submerge the decoy in a warm bath. This will allow it to completely return to it's intended shape. Even a few hours sitting at room temperature will help return it to it's correct shape.*

Installing the tail:

- 3) Locate the poly bag with Cap screw and 2 nuts inside
- 4) Screw one nut on to the Cap screw until it's approximately 3/16" from the head of the screw.
- 5) At the back of the coyote there is a grommet hole. Insert the screw through this hole with the head and first nut on the outside.
- 6) From the inside, screw on the other nut until it's tight (pinching the grommet between the 2 nuts).
- 7) The tail has a plastic fitting on the top with a keystone. Slide the large end of the keystone over the head of the Cap screw and slide down to secure the tail onto the coyote body.

Using the stake:

- 8) The stake has 2 parts, locate the top section & bottom section.
- 9) To assemble the stake, line the locator boss on the top of the bottom stake with the slot in the bottom of the top stake.
- 10) Slide the 2 stake sections together until the locator boss hits the stop, then twist the 2 stakes to lock them together.
- 11) Put the assembled stake inside the decoy, line up the top of the stake (plastic protrusion) with the hole in the top of the decoy and push it thru the hole. (It will be tight)
